Pak resumes trade with India after 19 months

RAJENDRA JADHAV & ASIF SHAHZAD
Islamabad/Mumbai, 31 March

Pakistan lifted a nearly two-year-old ban on Indian sugar and cotton imports, government sources said, a step towards reviving suspended trade between the two nuclear-armed neighbours.

Pakistan's Economic Coordination Council, a top decision-making body, on Wednesday allowed the private sector to import 0.5 million tonnes of white sugar as Islamabad tries to keep soaring domestic prices in check, government officials told Reuters.

Pakistani buyers have already started making inquiries about buying Indian sugar and cotton, which is being offered at lower prices than supplies from other countries, five dealers said.

India is the world's biggest producer of cotton and the second biggest sugar producer. Exports to its neighbour will reduce surpluses that are weighing on its local markets, while helping Pakistan to lower soaring sugar prices ahead of Ramadan.

The push comes amid a gradual thawing in ties between the two neighbours, which have fought three wars since gaining independence in 1947. The militaries of both countries released a rare joint

INDIA-PAKISTAN TRADE VIEW

Amid tensions between India and Pakistan over the last few years, exports from India witnessed a sharp fall of over 60 per cent year-on-year in 2019-20. This came in the backdrop of Pakistan suspending bilateral trade with India in August 2019 owing to India's decision to scrap Article 370. Cotton, sugar, organic chemicals, pharmaceuticals, iron and steel, and plastic are top exported items to Pakistan. Similarly, India's import from Pakistan plummeted 97.18 per cent year-on-year in 2019-20 after the Pulwama attack in February 2019.

Thereafter, India also withdrew the most favoured nation status to Pakistan and imposed a customs duty of 200 per cent on all imports.

Madras HC asks Centre if it proposes to bring law on making rational promises in poll manifestos

TE NARASIMHAM
Chennai, 31 March

The Madras High Court came down heavily on political parties for distributing freebies to people as a poll promise. The high court posted nearly 20 questions to various government departments and the Election Commission. These include whether the Centre proposes to bring a law on making rational promises in election manifestos, what steps were taken by the commission to scrutinise such manifestos and the action taken against political parties, among others.

The order, passed by Justice N Kirubakaran and Justice B Pugalendhi, stated that political parties should be prohibited or prevented from making election promises, which are capable of adding burden on the public exchequer. Otherwise, for raising finances, the state has to increase the number of liquor shops, it said.

The order stated that election manifestos were not so popular about 30 years ago, and only in the past two decades, did they gain popularity among the masses.

This is because political parties compete with each other, by offering free gifts and freebies in various forms and kinds. They promise the people better development and a comfortable life.

The kinds of freebies and money given during festivals, though it may be seen as government taking care of the people's needs, in fact are making the people lethargic and dampening the working culture, it said.

In the process, the honest taxpayer is made a mute spectator of these expenditures by the government.

A total of ₹9,040 crore over six years have been allocated for larger producers against their incremental sales, with the biggest chunk of ₹2,169 crore earmarked for 2025-26.

Further, ₹1,500 crore will be offered as an incentive to large manufacturers for their efforts in brand building in foreign markets and marketing initiatives like in-store branding and shelf-space renting.

A senior government official said several domestic and global companies like Nestlé, Mother Dairy, Amul, ITC, Hindustan Unilever, and Kellogg's have already expressed willingness to avail of the scheme.

"The PLI scheme will be a game-changer, in boosting food processing investments, agri-exports, farmer incomes, and building Indian brands for global markets," said Sanjiv Puri, chairman, ITC.

Varun Berry, MD, Britannia said, the scheme will provide much-needed boost to the food processing sector and also promote growth and investments. Sudhir Sitapati, executive director, foods & refreshment at Hindustan Unilever, said as one of the largest food processing companies in India, Auto-debit...

Leading private banks had been sending messages to customers that they would have to transact on their own for services they want to avail, instead of banks deducting the fee automatically on their behalf.

The new norms that were supposed to kick in from April 1, for which the RBI had issued a notification in August 2019, entailed banks to check with customers by notifying them and getting their approval for recurring payments through debit and credit cards before processing such transactions.

Pune reels...

But the vaccination effort faces two hurdles: that of demand as well as supply.

The Yerupurush Chhatrapati Shivaji vaccination centre is nearly deserted in the post-lunch session on the day of Holi. "We had a full house in the morning session, but not many people have come in the afternoon due to Holi," says Sumit Meshram, the representative doctor at the municipality-run medical centre. The centre vaccinated 146 people that day, compared to 200 on an average on other days in March.

There is some degree of vaccine hesitancy among people, too. The fear of side effects also keeps many from coming forward to take the shot, says Dr Aditya Phadke, who oversees vaccination at Premchand Oswal Hospital, another municipal vaccination centre in Pune.

"I have been trying to educate those who are coming in, so they can communicate the message to their friends and neighbours when they go back," he said.

Municipal officials say that they are making sure that all available vials are used up at each vaccination centre.

"Our capacity to vaccinate, including that in private hospitals, is quite substantial. For example, Deenanath Mangeshkar Hospital can vaccinate 1,000 people a day. Kamla Nehru Hospital can do 1,100. But the availability of vaccines is not up to that mark," says Vaishali Jadhav, assistant medical officer, PMC, told Business Standard.

Jadhav says that vaccines are being supplied once in three to four days, but the city needs much more. "This was inevitable since the government has been indicating for some time that rates on small savings instruments would be aligned to the yield on the 10-year G-Sec," says Deepesh Raghaw, founder, PersonalFinancePlan.

Among alternatives, investors may look at tax-free bonds from the secondary market. "The yields on these instruments are around 4.5 per cent, but there is no limit on how much investors can invest in them. On PPf there is a limit of ₹1.5 lakh per annum," says Dhawan.

Investors who are willing to take some risk may also opt for medium to longer duration bond funds. Medium duration funds have given a return of 7.25 per cent over the past year while longer-duration funds have returned 7.64 per cent.
